

South Dakota Career Peek

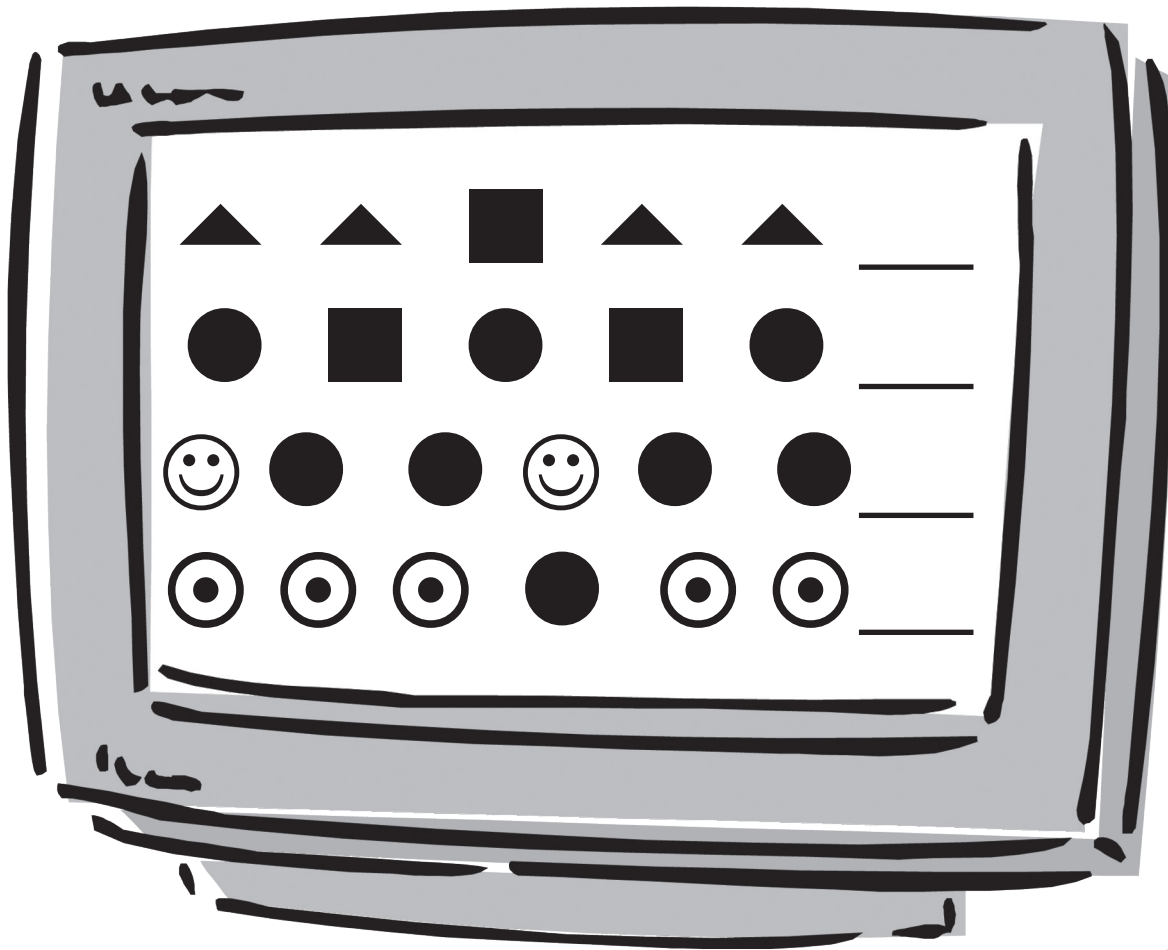

Information Technology

Software developers create software to run on computers and other devices. They will test the software. They help fix and update software. They write in languages called codes. Computers read these codes.

Draw the shapes that would come next in the pattern.

at what you can become!

