SUBJECT: Board Review of Member Feedback regarding NCARB Certificate and Registration Processes

Dear Member Board Members and Executives:

In January, the Board of Directors participated in a blue-sky discussion directed at possible future directions for the NCARB Certificate, as well as the customer experience and Member Board role regarding testing registration. The Board asked that this blue-sky approach be presented to the membership at the June Annual Business Meeting in Boston to provide the Board with feedback on the various concepts.

This letter reports back to you the findings from the Boston workshop and the conclusions drawn by our Board of Directors at our recent Board meeting.

At the Boston ABM, NCARB posed three questions to NCARB members during five workshop sessions on this topic. The objective was to collect member-identified opportunities and challenges on three questions:

- What if NCARB expanded our Direct Registration option as an enhanced service to Member Boards?
- What if NCARB created exam eligibilities directly for licensure candidates without connection to a Member Board?
- What if NCARB issued the Certificate for initial licensure at completion of education, experience, and examination?

DIRECT REGISTRATION: Member Feedback and Board Action

- Member Board Members who participated in the ABM workshop indicated that the existing Direct Registration program has proven to be popular with Member Boards who take advantage of this service as a means of reducing the ever increasing burden from reductions in both funding and resources. Member Board Members also noted that numerous myths about Direct Registration were addressed during the workshops and that many members were surprised to learn that so many Member Boards were already using this service. However, the title "Direct Registration" was determined to be a misleading term fueling confusion about the service. Currently, 28 Member Boards use this service with another three in the process of readying to use it.
- The NCARB Board has directed Council staff to rebrand the program and enhance promotion to Member Boards not currently availing themselves of the support offered by this program.

OPTION FOR EXAM ELIGIBILITY WITHOUT JURISDICTIONAL AFFILIATION: Member Feedback and Board Action

- In Boston, significant discussion ensued on the second question of creating exam eligibilities directly for licensure candidates without declaring an affiliation with a Member Board. Member feedback on this topic was decidedly mixed. While some members perceived this service as a more modern approach to the licensure process and another opportunity to reduce the burden on Member Board staff, many others voiced clear concerns that would need to be addressed, including conflicts with statutes/laws, perceived loss or delay of revenue, and potential impact on administrative and disciplinary authority by Member Boards.

- The NCARB Board has directed staff to conduct additional research including case studies that outline how a Member Board may opt-in to the program, how customers would be informed as to Member Boards requiring an affiliation decision pre-examination, and the possible ramifications to customers and other Member Boards should such an option be implemented.

OPTION TO REPOSITION THE NCARB CERTIFICATE AS AN ELIGIBILITY CERTIFICATE PRE-LICENSURE: Member Feedback and Board Action

- Members clearly identified more challenges to overcome for the final question on issuing the Certificate at completion of education, experience, and examination. Both the member attendees in Boston and the NCARB Board had discussions ranging from the possibility of a "certificate of eligibility" or recognition at each step on the path to licensure to concerns about devaluing and misuse of the NCARB Certificate, national licensure, and circumventing the licensure process.
- Based on several observations, the NCARB Board determined not to pursue this course of action. Any further consideration of pre-licensure credentialing would have to utilize a different terminology/title than the "NCARB Certificate" due to current meaning, significant branding, and value perception. No current need is evident that would compel such an action. The concept may have merit in the future should other adjustments to eligibilities and pre-licensure credentialing occur.

The Board deeply appreciates the participation of the membership in the Boston workshop, and is confident that the blue-sky process incorporating issue identification, member feedback, and healthy debate will continue to result in effective decisions for the Council and its members. To summarize, the Council will be refreshing its outreach and marketing activities regarding the option currently known as "direct registration," more research will inform further Board discussion/debate regarding adding an "undecided" option to pre-examination affiliation with a jurisdiction, and further action will be tabled regarding repositioning the NCARB Certificate as a pre-licensure eligibility credential.

We will update you further should any additional Board action occur.

With best wishes,

Gregory L. Erny, FAIA, NCARB
President / Chair of the Board

This publication is designed to provide timely updates on the actions and discussions of the NCARB Board of Directors immediately following meetings. Please remember that the information provided here may be confidential and will be indicated as such when necessary.

President Gregory L. Erny, FAIA, NCARB, presided at the Board of Directors meeting held September 14–16, 2017. Focusing on vision, strategy, and fiduciary responsibility, the Board of Directors conducted three blue-sky sessions and participated in training on Board roles and responsibilities with legal counsel and the Board's strategic planning consultant. The Board reviewed the status of the Council's software product business development initiative, took action on the FY18 financial audit, debated proposed housekeeping edits to the NCARB Bylaws and reviewed new position descriptions for volunteer leadership positions.

Additionally, President Erny reported to the Board on recent and upcoming engagements with international and collateral organizations, while CEO Michael J. Armstrong presented current program and customer metrics and an overview of FY18 objectives. The Board also heard jurisdictional news from the regional, Member Board Executive (MBE), and public directors and received updates on initial forays into FY18 committee work from committee liaisons.

Board Roles & Responsibilities

President Erny opened the Board meeting with an overview of the previous day's work by the Executive Committee. In addition to studying key financial activity for the first two months of the fiscal year, the Executive Committee conducted a review of two of the Council's financial policies, heard a request from a Member Board, and discussed future goals that will inform long-range financial planning efforts. This activity will inform Board discussion in January.

Erny then introduced Jeff Tenenbaum of Venable LLP, legal counsel for NCARB, and Jay Younger of McKinley Advisors, strategic planning consultant to the Board. Tenenbaum and Younger engaged the Board in lively conversation about the legal responsibilities of boards and the characteristics of high-performing boards. Younger, whose firm is facilitating the Council's efforts to update the strategic plan, then briefed the Board on initial high-level feedback from membership and licensing advisor focus groups. Next steps include surveys of customers and staff, and engagement of a Strategic Focus Group appointed by President Erny. All research results will be provided to the Board of Directors prior to the Board's January 2018 strategic planning exercises.

Blue-Sky

President Erny identified three blue-sky topics for this Board meeting:

- Perspectives on the Certificate—Understanding member feedback from the Annual Business Meeting workshop and next steps.
- Explore New Credentials—Considering whether NCARB should begin strategic investigations into greater credentialing within the profession.
- Welfare/Well-being—Learning that other organizations are having this discussion, the Board examined the meaning of welfare versus well-being.

Perspectives on the Certificate

During the Perspectives on the Certificate session, NCARB Marketing & Communications Director Andrew McIntyre provided the Board with member-identified opportunities and challenges for three questions that were put before the membership at a workshop during the June 2017 Annual Business Meeting in Boston:

- What if NCARB expanded our Direct Registration option as an enhanced service to Member Boards?
- What if NCARB created exam eligibilities directly for licensure candidates without connection to a Member Board?

- What if NCARB issued the Certificate for initial licensure at completion of education, experience, and examination?

The member input was gathered during five workshop sessions titled “Blue-sky Perspectives on Certification.” As discussions during this blue-sky session were in direct response to the member input, the outcomes from the Board’s discussions at the September 2017 Board meeting have been shared with the membership in a letter from President Erny dated September 25, 2017. A copy of the letter can be found in the Registration Board section of My NCARB—select “attachments” at the link to view the letter.

Explore New Credentials

In response to questions from members and other stakeholders, the Board held an initial conversation about whether there is a need for additional credentialing—either pre- or post-licensure—within the profession. NCARB Examination Director Jared Zurn, AIA, NCARB, facilitated Board exercises to explore how the current regulatory environment impacts licensure and credentialing models and whether the current model protects the public and the consumer at all levels. Discussion ensued around the role of the marketplace, educating the public, professional ethics, and paraprofessional credentials in other professions. No conclusions were reached in this initial conversation.

Welfare/Well-being

President Erny kicked off this final blue-sky topic and invited CEO Armstrong to provide an introduction to the session. Armstrong informed the Board that discussions of utilizing the term “well-being” rather than “welfare” are happening in many other organizations. He explained that this blue-sky session was not about changes to laws, rules, or regulations. The purpose of the session was to begin to understand the Board’s philosophy in light of upcoming discussions related to refreshing the Strategic Plan. Facilitated by Zurn, the Board engaged in group discussion and break-out activities on the meaning of welfare and well-being. At the conclusion of the session, the Board agreed to further discuss this topic at a future Board meeting.

Other Activities

Past President Kristine A. Harding, NCARB, AIA, presented for Board consideration draft descriptions of the roles and responsibilities for each position on the Board of Directors and for committee chairs. Harding explained that these position descriptions are intended to provide future leaders with clarity of expectations for each role. The Board supported the release of these position descriptions.

The Board voted to accept the FY17 audited financial statements. Treasurer Robert M. Calvani, NCARB, AIA, reported that the Audit Committee met with Christian Spencer, partner in the independent audit firm of Tate & Tryon, to review the results of the financial audit, in which the Council again received a clean, or “unqualified” opinion. Calvani also reported that this had been the fifth year that Spencer served as the partner on the audit. Noting that Board policy requires selection of a new partner after five years, the committee selected Doug Boedeker, also of Tate & Tryon, as the partner for the FY18 financial audit.

The Board of Directors previewed proposed housekeeping edits to the NCARB Bylaws and provided direction for additional edits necessary for greater clarity within the Bylaws. The focus of the discussions centered on reconciling actual common practice with Bylaws language that is outdated or otherwise not reflective of current capacity. Council staff and legal counsel will draft proposed resolutions for early release within the next 60 days to Member Boards, which will be simultaneously released to appropriate committees for review and feedback. The early release is designed to assure adequate opportunities for discussion and clarification in advance of larger gatherings such as the December Committee Summit and March Regional Summit.

Reports

President's Report

Erny reported that he and Armstrong, along with First Vice President/President-elect David Hoffman, FAIA, NCARB, and Sr. Architect/Advisor to the CEO Stephen Nutt, FAIA, NCARB, joined the American Institute of Architects (AIA) delegation to the International Union of Architects (UIA) triennial meeting in Seoul, South Korea. Erny reported very rich interactions with architects around the world, raising awareness of NCARB. Of particular note was time spent with the commonwealths of Great Britain, where future mutual recognition possibilities may be possible. He reported that a meeting is scheduled with the Architects Registration Board of the United Kingdom in October. A meeting with the Council's Canadian counterpart is also scheduled to take place in Baltimore, Maryland, in November.

In collateral news, Erny provided an update on the status of the National Architectural Accrediting Board's (NAAB) repositioning efforts, including a call with NCARB nominees to the NAAB board of directors and meeting with NAAB leaders while at the UIA meeting. He reported that the staff transitions at the NAAB have been finalized, with continued delivery of ongoing support to accreditation team visits and customer issues regarding the EESA evaluation—the two primary deliverables for NCARB, its Member Boards, and customers. It is projected that NAAB reorganization efforts will result in a net decrease in annual funding from NCARB and the other collaterals. He noted that the Board of Directors will engage with leadership from the Association of Collegiate Schools of Architecture (ACSA) following Committee Summit in December 2017, and with the NAAB leadership at the January 2018 Board of Directors meeting. The American Institute of Architecture Students (AIAS) leadership will attend the April 2018 Board meeting.

Earlier this summer, Erny spoke at the AIAS Grassroots conference in Washington, DC, and coupled that visit with an opportunity to engage with individual staff teams in the Council office. Also in July, he attended the Licensing Advisor Summit in Chicago, where he engaged in special breakout meetings with student advisors and with pro-practice faculty.

Treasurer's Report

Calvani reviewed highlights from the FY17 year-end financial statements, noting that income had exceeded expenses by $2.36 million. Half of the surplus came from earnings on the Council's investment portfolio. The remainder of additional revenues resulted from increased retention of candidates in the licensure pipeline and high demand for the Architect Registration Examination® (ARE®) due to the June 30, 2018, retirement of ARE 4.0.

He also provided a report on financial activities for July 2017, the first month of FY18. Calvani reminded the Board that the FY18 budget includes a one million dollar deficit. Armstrong supplemented Calvani's report with recent information on activities in August 2017. Outcomes from July and August indicate stronger than projected test activity and licensure candidate Record renewals, along with expected retention of licensees and other Certificate holders. Going forward, the Board will be provided with additional deficit monitoring data to measure key indicators against historic and projected performance. Early data after two months indicates net performance is ahead of projected revenue and may lead to a reduced deficit; however, sufficient uncertainty and 10 months of additional reporting will impact any further projections.

Director Reports

Reports by the regional, MBE, and public directors spotlighted the following jurisdictional news: high level of turn-over in some jurisdictional boards; challenges in addressing illegal practice violations; new education grants or funding being provided by Member Boards; addressing issues from hurricanes Harvey and Irma; upcoming education conferences; rules changes and legislative session actions; and primary source verification.

CEO Report

In a look back at the close of fiscal year 2017, CEO Armstrong provided key metrics to the Board of Directors:

- Over 10,000 people attended either an in-person event or a live webinar in FY17 outreach activities.
- 20,937 candidates attempted at least one division of the ARE.
- A record 4,645 candidates completed their final division of the ARE.
- More than 5,500 candidates have transitioned to ARE 5.0.
- Nearly 800 candidates have passed the exam by taking a combination of 4.0 and 5.0 divisions.
- NCARB has been featured in over 100 blog and news articles since the June 2017 Annual Business Meeting.
- One-third of attendees to the June 2017 Annual Business Meeting responded to a survey to provide feedback on the experience. Key findings include:
  - ◊ One hundred percent of the respondents found the plenary and workshop sessions with the keynote speakers to be informative and relevant.
  - ◊ Over 90 percent of respondents also ranked the other workshops as informative.
  - ◊ Respondents enjoyed the interactive nature of this year's workshop sessions.

- ◊ Many expressed appreciation for the unique experience of the blue-sky workshop.
- ◊ Ninety percent of respondents who visited a Community Center table ranked the experience as valuable.

Armstrong also reported that NCARB hosted a record 247 attendees at the 2017 Licensing Advisor Summit held in Chicago in July. Attendees included 99 educator advisors from 89 schools, 61 firm advisors, 39 each of student and AIA component advisors, and 10 Member Board advisors. The Licensing Advisor Summit is moving to an every-other-year cycle, with the next summit scheduled for 2019.

Armstrong highlighted key projects underway for FY18. These include:

- Marketing campaign on the June 30, 2018, retirement of ARE 4.0.
- Resource development for Architectural Experience Program™ (AXP™) supervisors.
- System enhancements to the Member Board portal and the disciplinary database.
- New volunteer initiatives that will be supported by staff include the Futures Task Force, the Interior Architecture Workgroup, the Centennial Advisory Task Force, and the Strategic Focus Group.
- Engagement with external organizations include partnerships with:
  - ◊ ACSA on a data-collection research project to gain insights from the professional practice community.
  - ◊ The AIAS on the Freedom by Design initiative.
  - ◊ The Council of Landscape Architectural Registration Boards (CLARB) on a joint training program for new Member Board Members and Member Board Executives.
  - ◊ Continued conversation with the International Code Council (ICC).

- Revising the Integrated Path to Architectural Licensure (IPAL) school application process to be now available year-round.
- Data collection regarding the role of professional practice courses in architectural education, and the development of a training academy for professional practice faculty.
- Staff organizational efforts to support the new Recently Licensed Architect Think Tank, set for recruitment in early 2018 and a first meeting in spring 2018.
- Research and drafting activity for the Centennial history book and exhibit projects.
- Ongoing coalition-building and support for informing elected officials on the merits of reasonable regulation.

McIntyre presented an overview to the Board on the Council's marketing and communications strategies. Armstrong and McIntyre then engaged the Board in a conversation to capture Board members' viewpoints and feedback.

CEO Armstrong and Chief Information & Innovation Officer Guillermo Ortiz de Zárate briefed the Board on the business development opportunity to license the Council's proprietary technology.

The board viewed samples of the four potential products and approved continued development of this new business strategy.

Committee Reports

MBE Director Maria Brown and Region 6 Director Jim Oschwald, NCARB, AIA, LEED AP BD+C—FY18 and FY17 BOD Liaisons, respectively, to the Resiliency Work Group—presented recommendations from the work group relative to future efforts by other Council committees on resiliency. The Resiliency Work Group will complete their work at the end of 2017.

Committee liaisons provided verbal reports to the Board of Directors on other committee activities. Work is underway by almost all committees. Several committees expect to provide resolution drafts to the Board. Along with the Resiliency Work Group, the Ethics Task Force will sunset this year and provide an update including proposed next steps at the December Committee Summit.

Joint Statement for U.S. House of Representatives Judiciary Subcommittee on Regulatory Reform, Commercial and Antitrust Law

On September 12, the U.S. House of Representatives Judiciary Subcommittee on Regulatory Reform, Commercial and Antitrust Law held a hearing on Occupational Licensing: Regulation and Competition ☞. The subcommittee heard testimony regarding the impact of occupational licensing on competition from:

- Maureen Ohlhausen, Acting Chairman of the Federal Trade Commission
- Robert Johnson, Attorney for the Institute for Justice
- Sarah Allen, Senior Assistant Attorney General for the Office of the Attorney General of the Commonwealth of Virginia
- Rebecca Allensworth, Professor of Law at Vanderbilt Law School

Prior to the hearing, NCARB signed a joint statement with other associations and organizations representing state professional licensing boards. Through the statement, the group urged the subcommittee to consider the unique role of state licensing boards in the system of state government, as well as their mission to protect the public from harm. State licensing boards encourage trust between the public and the profession by enforcing standards of practice. This ensures that qualified professionals act for the benefit of the consumer rather than at the consumer's expense. In addition, cooperative efforts among licensing boards—such as mutual recognition agreements, reciprocity, and alternative means of satisfying licensure standards—encourage licensure. The work of state licensing boards protects the public health, safety, and welfare while facilitating and encouraging practice by qualified individuals.

The decision in the North Carolina State Board of Dental Examiners v. Federal Trade Commission case required licensing boards comprised mostly of active market participants to be "actively supervised" by a state entity to receive immunity from federal antitrust law. However, the decision and subsequent FTC guidance do not clearly indicate what constitutes active supervision, simply calling for another layer of bureaucratic review. Similarly, the active supervision proposed under the Restoring Board Immunity Act (RBI) disregards state constitutional authority and has the potential to create a less efficient regulatory process. A more attractive approach than creating immunity for state boards is creating a means to shield these boards and their staff from damage awards, which could be done by removing treble damages from the available solutions for actions brought against state regulatory boards. Limiting the available recourse options to injunctive relief will ensure that antitrust laws are not used to bring frivolous claims against state licensing boards.

Tri-National Mutual Recognition Agreement for International Practice Letter of Undertaking Request

In February 2014, the Council implemented the Tri-National Mutual Recognition Agreement for International Practice. This agreement was developed by the leaders and regulators of architecture in Canada, Mexico, and the United States to facilitate the mutual recognition of licensure credentials across all three countries. Following many years of negotiation, the agreement was signed by the leadership of the Council in October 2005 and ratified by our Member Boards at the Annual Business Meeting in June 2006.

NCARB President Gregory L. Erny, FAIA, NCARB, and CEO Mike Armstrong have reached out to Member Boards requesting they sign a Letter of Undertaking. Further details can be found in the “Agreements” folder in the Registration Board Section of My NCARB. Please reach out to Council Relations at council-relations@ncarb.org for further explanation or discussion.

The ARE 4.0 Retirement Plan

ARE 4.0 will not be offered after June 30, 2018. With less than one year until 4.0's retirement, we have developed a communications initiative planned over the next 10 months to ensure licensure candidates understand their options. A recent special edition of Fast Facts included a breakdown of NCARB's messaging plan, resources available to candidates, and information Member Boards can share with candidates. ## “Architect” Convicted of Unlicensed Practice in New York

Unlicensed practice is a concern for architectural licensing boards, architects, and the safety of the public. Due to the work of two state boards, a violator recently plead guilty to grand larceny, forgery, and other charges related to practicing without a license.

Paul J. Newman built a career as an award-winning architect in New York, but had not taken the steps to become licensed in the state. Using a license number he found online and a fake rubber stamp, he completed projects and collected fees from 2010-2015 in the state of New York. Newman’s fraud was eventually unraveled by a complaint to the Florida Board of Architecture and Interior Design regarding work he failed to complete. After an initial investigation, the board determined he was practicing without a license, fined him, and referred him to the New York Board of Architecture for disciplinary action. Following a criminal trial, he was found guilty on six counts and sentenced to two and one-third to seven years in prison.

The swift work of the Florida Board and the cooperation of the New York Board led to the successful prosecution of an unlicensed practitioner. The NCARB Disciplinary Database is designed with this purpose in mind: to create a repository of licensee derogatory information accessible by all Member Boards. To learn how your board can take advantage of the database, please contact the Council Relations team at council-relations@ncarb.org ✉.

The complete story can be found in The New York Times ✉.

New Disciplinary Database Outreach Plan

NCARB is pleased to announce an extended service for the disciplinary database that will add transparency between our Member Boards and provide more accurate, reliable data about adverse actions licensing boards have taken against architects and licensure candidates.

As a value-added service, NCARB will update the disciplinary database on your behalf if you do not have sufficient resources to do so. An NCARB Customer Relations professional will contact your selected staff person shortly after your board meetings to obtain a list of architects that have received professional conduct violations.

The disciplinary database is a great resource to our Member Boards. It is designed to assist boards in the process of evaluating candidates for initial and reciprocal licensure. This service will provide a mechanism to report disciplinary actions, as well as enhance the data you will be able to obtain from other jurisdictions. The more comprehensive this database is, the more beneficial it is for everyone.

The benefits of participating in the disciplinary database include:

- Boards will have immediate access to disciplinary actions imposed nationally.
- Applicants' past disciplinary record(s) can be verified prior to licensure.
- Boards can monitor and verify if an architect continues violations in other jurisdictions.

Ultimately, this service will minimize inconsistencies and improve decision-making for our Member Boards. Feel free to contact the Council Relations team at council-relations@ncarb.org ✉ with any other questions.

New Member Transmittal Feedback Feature

This month, we added a new Member Transmittal Feedback feature to your registration page. This new feedback option allows you, your fellow members, and staff to immediately contact an NCARB Customer Relations manager when there is an issue with a Record that needs to be resolved. Earlier this month, Member Board Executives Committee Chair Elizabeth Bern distributed a message with step-by-step instructions on using this feature to the Member Board Executive Community.

This feature will allow NCARB to continue to improve its processes, and we hope it provides increased efficiency to you and your staff as you accept and review transmittals from NCARB's Customer Relations team. Feel free to contact the Council Relations team at council-relations@ncarb.org ✉ with any questions about the transmittal feedback feature.

New Member Board Member and Executive Survey—LAST CHANCE

NCARB and the Council of Landscape Architectural Registration Boards (CLARB) are jointly organizing an orientation event for new licensing board members and executives. This orientation session is intended for those who have served in their current board role for one year or less and will take place February 8-10, 2018, in Washington, DC.

We are inviting you to complete a brief survey to help us gauge the level of interest in this event and allow everyone to provide input into the content of the training. Please complete the survey ✉ by Wed., October 4, and contact the Council Relations staff at council-relations@ncarb.org ✉ with any questions about the orientation or survey. Thank you in advance for your input.

FARB Forum

The 42nd Annual FARB Forum will be held January 25-28, 2018, at the Loews Coronado Bay in Coronado, CA. The forum brings together experts from across the country to discuss the latest trends in professional regulation. Attendees include testing experts, individual board members from state and provincial regulatory boards, executive directors, related staff, investigators, assistant attorneys general, and private legal counsel. The FARB Forum is educationally driven; it includes sessions that inform attendees about recent regulatory and examination issues and encourage collaboration among regulatory boards to assist them in fulfilling their responsibilities.

Visit the FARB website for further details about the forum agenda, registration, and lodging.

Centennial Mini-State History Reminder

As part of NCARB's upcoming centennial celebration, we're asking each jurisdiction to fill out a brief history of your licensing board. These histories will be incorporated in the various materials developed for events in 2019, including a commemorative book. Marketing & Communications Assistant Director Amanda Pica sent MBEs a template in July. If you have any questions about the history template, please reach out to Amanda (apica@ncarb.org). These histories are due December 31, 2017.

An Equal Opportunity Employer

October 5, 2017

Volunteer With Your Local AIAS Freedom by Design Chapter

Dear Colleagues,

In 2016, NCARB and the American Institute of Architecture Students (AIAS) began an initiative to connect state Member Boards with their local AIAS Freedom by Design program. The first year of the program resulted in greater Member Board engagement and increased grants to support local Freedom by Design chapters. Those of you who had the opportunity to attend our Annual Business Meeting have heard the success stories and learned how this program provides a fun, exciting opportunity for mentors while exposing students to real-world design challenges.

In the coming weeks, we will begin to connect local participating AIAS chapters with Member Board Members like you who can offer mentorship and support. Many student chapters begin their planning and design efforts during the fall, so this is a great time to engage. Some chapters may wait to begin efforts until the spring; regardless, we will reach out to you as soon as we hear of a project opportunity in your jurisdiction.

Developed by the AIAS, the Freedom by Design volunteer-based program empowers architecture students to improve the safety and accessibility of homes, community spaces, and playgrounds through sensitive design. Additionally, students who participate in Freedom by Design can use their experience to earn credit for the Architectural Experience Program™ (AXP™).

Together, we can help prepare the next generation of architects for real-world practice while giving back to the community.

Regards,

Michael Armstrong
NCARB CEO

Nick Serfass, AIA, CAE
AIAS Executive Director

Message from the CEO

Dear Colleagues,

A series of planned meetings and annual reviews have turned our focus toward the connection between U.S. approaches to licensure and those of other nations. Most frequently, the licensure function abroad is housed within a national government agency, with the U.S. formula of sub-national entities (states) confederated in a non-governmental advisory organization (NCARB) being somewhat unique. Our recent revision to the former Broadly Experienced Foreign Architect (BEFA) alternative to NCARB certification remains one of the few portals provided for foreign licensees to obtain a license in another country. Yet we have gone a step further to ascertain where a similar approach to the "three Es" of education, experience, and examination might form a foundation for reciprocity—with years of "good standing" practice in one's home country as a qualifier. So far, we have found sufficient parallels in Canada, Australia, and New Zealand for mutual recognition. With the planned "Brexit" of the United Kingdom from the European Union, another opportunity may arise. Early discussions seem hopeful, but many steps, including some outside our control, still remain.

The American approach to licensure—the three Es with measurable rigor—is also a focus of the new Futures Task Force in terms of what may be relevant 20 years from now. Will we be using the right tools to measure the right things that minimally qualify an architect to protect the public? How does a projected "future state" of architectural practice impact the regulatory framework or the larger argument for licensure as a necessity? This provocative conversation is essential as a driver of future value and continuing self-assessment. The work of this task force, in concert with the work of the new Centennial Advisory Committee, should make for a rich celebration of 100 years in June 2019 as we look back and look forward.

NCARB Update

September 2017

This discussion is not an abstract; it remains a current topic in the context of the political debate regarding regulation and, in an anecdotal fashion, most recently addressed in Architect Magazine. In that publication, the case of the non-licensed designer being prosecuted in New York resulted in a lively exchange of opinions regarding whether regulation is effective. What was missing in the debate was an acknowledgement of how state resources are frequently limited—either by design or by neglect—and therefore insufficient to conduct fundamental investigatory and enforcement actions. The result is “soft deregulation,” which can cause the work of our Member Boards to seem superficial. NCARB is interested in developing tools to overcome these capacity shortfalls and to aid in the efforts of its Member Boards to fulfill their commitment to public protection.

With best wishes,

Strategic Plan

- The uptick in registrations for the Architect Registration Examination® (ARE®) continues at higher-than-projected levels. New alternatives to the NCARB Certificate for those without a degree from a NAAB-accredited program continue to exceed expectations. These metrics demonstrate an effective commitment to the goal of facilitating licensure. Our robust outreach schedule, shown in this Update, demonstrates a commitment to fostering collaboration with our Member Boards, as well as external groups and organizations. Our third goal of centralizing data is being advanced by a new initiative involving NCARB staff, dedicated to collecting disciplinary data on a monthly basis to ensure a more comprehensive national database. Meanwhile, the effort to refresh the Strategic Plan is moving into high gear with the engagement of the volunteer Strategic Focus Group, staff interviews and focus groups scheduled for the fall, and a first drafting engagement to occur with the Board of Directors in January. Work will continue throughout 2018 with a final version to be unveiled at the 2019 Annual Business Meeting.

Organizational Development and Office Life

- Interviews are underway regarding the selection of a Business Performance Review (BPR) consultant to assess the approach of the Customer Relations Directorate. The directorate is currently recalibrating its workflow to fully adopt the Agile project management concept. The Information Systems Directorate is now working with its first clients regarding technology programs being offered to external organizations in a vendor/customer relationship. An internal "outreach boot camp" is being developed for all staff tasked with presenting NCARB information to external audiences.
- The Brand Ambassadors hosted a launch party to celebrate the new internal site entitled "Blue." The Quality of Life Committee promoted raising internal awareness during Architecture Appreciation Week and supported the work of the Administration Directorate in hosting the annual staff picnic.
- Department directors and assistant directors joined the CEO and COO for the second "mini-retreat" to encourage team building and skills awareness. The focus included orientation regarding the strategies and processes driving the design of a Board meeting, including outcomes from the Board's September discussions.

Senior Officer and Executive Office Outreach

- NCARB President Gregory Emy, FAIA, NCARB, led the NCARB team that rounded out the U.S. delegation to the International Union of Architects World Congress in Seoul, South Korea. Emy, President-elect David Hoffman, FAIA, NCARB; CEO Mike Armstrong, and Advisor to the CEO Stephen Nutt, FAIA, NCARB, CAE, joined the AIA-sponsored delegation to promote NCARB's role in the regulation of the profession at the state, national, and international levels. NCARB also sponsored the attendance of the American Institute of Architecture Students (AIAS) vice president to ensure that the voice of the U.S. student group was represented at the international gathering. The UIA represents over 1.3 million architects across more than 140 countries around the world, and convenes the World Congress and General Assembly every three years.
- In September, President-elect David Hoffman chaired the first Centennial Advisory Committee meeting in Washington, DC. The group—comprised of 10 past, present, and future leaders of the Council—is charged with guiding the efforts of the team of staff and consultants paving the way to the Council's Centennial Celebration in June 2019.
- NCARB's Stephen Nutt was a featured keynote speaker at the 2017 Council of Landscape Architectural Registration Boards (CLARB) Annual Meeting in Boise, ID. Nutt's presentation brought into focus the current deregulation attempts occurring at the national level and the important role that messaging plays in turning around anti-regulatory sentiment. In his role as chief advocacy officer of the Federation of Associations of Regulatory Boards (FARB), Nutt continues to work on efforts to preserve the role of effective professional regulation, as well as protection for those who volunteer to serve on state licensing boards.
- With both his FARB and NCARB hats firmly in place, Nutt also attended a session on the current regulatory environment sponsored by the Citizen Advocacy Center at the Council on Licensure, Enforcement, and Regulation (CLEAR) Annual Meeting in Denver, CO. The session highlighted the issues surrounding the current deregulatory efforts at the state and national levels. The audience attracted over 50 attendees from various licensing agencies and from a dozen states representing a wide range of professions and occupations.
- NCARB served as a first-time corporate sponsor for the 2017 Interschool Design Competition at the National Building Museum. Sponsorship included providing free Council Records to the 50 participating students, who can use the experience to earn AXP credit. The competition, jointly supported by the three local AIA components, brings together students from six local architecture programs of DC, Maryland, and Virginia. Stephen Nutt served as a juror.

Architecture students from six local universities got a firsthand look at how creative design can improve their community during the 2017 Interschool Design Competition.

Administration

- Fiscal year 2017 (FY17) financial audit was accepted by the Board of Directors at their September meeting. The auditors again provided a clean opinion. The audited financial statements and opinion letter will be available in the FY17 Annual Report.
- We are actively recruiting for three vacancies on the Information Systems team. Details on these positions can be found at <https://www.ncarb.org/about/careers>.

Council Relations

- Facilitated NCARB signing a joint coalition statement emphasizing the value of occupational licensure to the U.S. House of Representatives Judiciary Subcommittee on Regulatory Reform, Commercial and Antitrust Law. Also attended a September 12 hearing on "Occupational Licensing: Regulation and Competition."
- Supported the Member Board Executives (MBE) Committee as they recently completed the Annual Quality Assurance Audit (QAA), began developing the program for the 2018 Member Board Executives Workshop, provided insights and guidance on several Council initiatives, and had the opportunity to engage with the Think Tank.

Customer Relations

- Roxanne Alston, Director of Customer Relations, moderated a workshop regarding trends in self-regulation at the 2017 CLEAR Education Conference in Denver, CO.
- The Professional Conduct Committee (PCC) held its kickoff meeting via phone to provide feedback to the Ethics Task Force on proposed edits to the NCARB Rules of Conduct. The committee also accepted a final draft of the PCC Rules of Procedure in preparation for cases to be reviewed in the coming year.
- Supported the Annual QAA during the MBE Committee meeting in Washington, DC. Several members of the committee had the opportunity to meet their dedicated Customer Relations support team.

@MetropolisMag

A new program by the @NCARB aims to shorten the path to licensure for prospective #architects. 5 deans weigh in: <http://ow.ly/zLKPF30fr44A>

Examination

- Began enhancements to ARE 5.0 exam delivery, which will allow candidates to receive provisional feedback on their exam performance at the end of an administration.
- The ARE 5.0 Item Development Subcommittee met and reviewed newly authored exam questions.
- The ARE 5.0 Case Study Task Force continued efforts to create a series of new case study resources for each division of the ARE.
- Examination staff and the Resiliency Work Group chair participated in a one-day conference on resilience and new urbanism.

Experience + Education

- The Think Tank had the opportunity to engage with the MBE Committee; members learned first-hand about the role of the licensing boards and shared their experience along the path to licensure. This year's Think Tank will consider perceptions of equity, sharpened education curricula, and methodologies to engage architecture students.
- Released two new mini-monographs: Subsurface Conditions Part III: Foundations/General Site Development and Seismic Mitigation Part III: Design for Better Seismic Response.

Think Tank members brainstorm how NCARB can reach architecture students.

Emeritus member term limit survey

- * 1. The Advisory Committee on Council Activities (ACCA) has been charged to review Bylaws 3.022, Emeritus Members, and determine if a term limit should be placed on how long an individual may serve as an NCEES emeritus member. The current language in the Bylaws is as follows:

Bylaws Section 3.022 Emeritus Members. An emeritus member of NCEES shall be a person who is a former member of a Member Board who is duly recommended by that Member Board and approved by the NCEES Board of Directors. Such appointments shall be reviewed annually by each Member Board and shall remain in effect until the Board of Directors is notified otherwise by the Member Board. Emeritus members of NCEES shall have the privilege of the floor upon approval of the presiding officer and may serve on any committee to which duly appointed under the Bylaws.

Background: At the 2017 annual meeting, the Nebraska PE board submitted a motion to limit the ability for emeritus members to serve on any NCEES committees beyond one year after the emeritus member's board membership ended. While the motion failed, it was noted during discussion that ACCA had already been charged to address term limits of emeritus members in the coming year and could address their service on committees when working on that charge.

ACCA asks you to complete the following survey. To ensure that ACCA receives feedback from each member board, please complete the survey by October 10.

Does your board nominate past members for NCEES emeritus status?

Architects' Primary Responsibility Is to Protect General Public

West Virginia Board of Architects Chair Richard T. Forren, AIA, NCARB, recently penned an op-ed on the role of the architect in protecting the health, safety, and welfare of the public in the built environment. He explains the value of licensed architects and the work of the board. Through rigorous standards for education, experience, and examination, the board ensures that qualified individuals can practice. Further, the board safeguards the public from those who are unauthorized and unqualified to practice. The practice of architecture is more than being artistic or sketching on paper and requires great attention to details that impact the public. Forren writes:

"Every architect is proud of what they do and takes their responsibility very seriously."

We encourage you to read the complete op-ed in The State Journal and commend Forren on promoting for the work of his board.

90 years of protecting welfare of the public.*

Understanding ARE 5.0 Provisional Feedback

Starting November 1, 2017, Architect Registration Examination® (ARE®) 5.0 candidates will have the opportunity to view immediate provisional feedback on their performance. Here are two key points regarding this enhanced aspect of exam delivery:

- Feedback is only available for ARE 5.0 candidates. Score reports for 5.0 candidates will continue to be released approximately 1-2 business days after testing.
- Provisional feedback is not available for ARE 4.0. Score reports for 4.0 candidates will continue to be released approximately 1-2 weeks after testing.

An outline of how provisional feedback will work at the test centers and answers to anticipated questions are available in the ARE 5.0 folder on the Registration Board Section of My NCARB.

2018 Annual Business Meeting—Workshop Suggestions

Opportunities in the new regulatory environment, investigation best practices, and blue-sky perspectives on the NCARB Certificate: these are just a few of the workshops offered during the 2017 Annual Business Meeting in Boston.

Are there subjects you want to learn more about? Are there issues in the regulatory world we should address? If there are other pressing issues you'd like to explore during the 2018 Annual Business Meeting, we'd like to hear from you. Send topics for workshops you'd like to see addressed at the upcoming meeting in Detroit to council-relations@ncarb.org ✉.

What's New at Your Board?

Have there been any new additions to your board? Has your board amended its rules? Have state legislatures or the governor taken actions that can impact the board?

If you answered yes to any of these questions, we encourage you to contact the Council Relations team at council-relations@ncarb.org ✉. Let us reflect your board's recent changes in Roster ✉, the Licensing Requirements Tool ✉, and our internal systems. We strive to have accurate and up-to-date information available for licensure candidates, architects, and other boards members.

NCARB Supports National Building Museum's Student Design Competition

The 2017 National Building Museum Interschool Design Competition ✉ brought together architecture students from six universities in the Washington, DC, area to explore creative design solutions and build upon the skills they've developed in the classroom. Through this competition, and with the support of the Council, students collaborated with their peers to conceptualize and design a new auditorium venue for the museum.

Nearly 50 students from the following schools participated in this year's competition: The Catholic University of America, Howard University, Morgan State University, The University of Maryland, University of the District of Columbia, and Virginia Tech. Students who participated can use this experience to earn credit toward the Architectural Experience Program ✉™ (AXP™).

This competition informs the public about the design process while giving the next generation of architects a taste for real-world practice. We are excited to support activities that bridge the gap between education and practice as well as foster innovative thought.

Further details about the National Building Museum and the Interschool Design Competition can be found on the museum's website ✉.

Federal Trade Commission's Economic Liberty Task Force Roundtable

On November 7, 2017, the Federal Trade Commission's (FTC) Economic Liberty Task Force will host a roundtable to examine the empirical evidence on the effects of occupational licensure. Panelists will discuss the current state of economic knowledge about the costs and benefits of licensing, including its effects on workers, consumers, and the overall economy.

To aid the FTC's analysis of these issues, NCARB has submitted public comments in the form of a letter addressed to FTC Chairwoman Maureen K. Ohlhausen. Like the comments we submitted to the task force's previous roundtable on occupational licensing portability, we emphasized that architectural licensing boards work tirelessly to protect the public's health, safety, and welfare through reasonable regulation. The Council and each jurisdiction strive to provide access to the profession by implementing streamlined and alternative paths to licensure, while also maintaining rigor through education, experience, and examination requirements. To ensure competition, our state boards seek and retain active supervision and implement various tools to help with disciplinary issues within the profession.

A link to the letter will be included in the next edition of Fast Facts and posted on the Registration Board Section of My NCARB.

FARB Forum

The 42nd Annual Federation of Associations of Regulatory Boards (FARB) Forum will be held January 25-28, 2018, at the Loews Coronado Bay in Coronado, CA. The forum brings together experts from across the country to discuss the latest trends in professional regulation. Attendees include testing experts, individual board members from state and provincial regulatory boards, executive directors, related staff, investigators, assistant attorneys general, and private legal counsel. The FARB Forum is educationally driven and includes sessions that inform attendees about recent regulatory and examination issues and encourage collaboration among regulatory boards to assist them in fulfilling their responsibilities.

Visit the FARB website for further details about the forum agenda, registration, and lodging.

Reminder: Tri-National Mutual Recognition Agreement for International Practice Letter of Undertaking Request

Earlier this month, your board received a request to sign a Letter of Undertaking for the Tri-National Mutual Recognition Agreement for International Practice. This agreement was developed by the leaders and regulators of architecture in Canada, Mexico, and the United States to facilitate the mutual recognition of licensure credentials among all three countries. The complete agreement, details about the program, and the core competency descriptions can be found in the Agreements folder in the Registration Board Section of My NCARB. Please reach out to Council Relations at council-relations@ncarb.org for further explanation or discussion.

Centennial Mini-State History Reminder

As part of NCARB's upcoming centennial celebration, we're asking each jurisdiction to fill out a brief history of your licensing board. These histories will be incorporated in the various materials developed for events in 2019, including a commemorative book. Assistant Director, Marketing & Communications Amanda Pica sent Member Board Executives a template in July. If you have any questions about the history template, please reach out to Amanda Pica (apica@ncarb.org). These histories are due December 31, 2017.

Upcoming Meetings

As you plan for the year ahead, make sure to mark your calendar for the upcoming FY18 meetings:

Architects primary responsibility is to protect general public

- by Richard T. Forren, AIA, NCARB Oct 23, 2017

Over the years, I have talked with so many that say "I always wanted to be an Architect." It sounds very much like a Seinfeld episode where George Costanza proclaims he "always wanted to pretend to be an architect. Perhaps the reason why so many of us have conjured the thought of becoming an architect is that it delves into our subconscious creativity for problem solving. Yes, architects do design beautiful buildings, but their primary responsibility, for which they are licensed, is to protect the health, safety and welfare of the general public within the built environment.

The West Virginia Board of Architects (WVBOA) was established specifically to safeguard the life, health, property, and public welfare of the people of the state. The board's primary function is to ensure this protection of the public by establishing standards for architectural practice and by licensing individuals who are qualified to meet those standards. This responsibility entails the oversight of 1,188 registered architects licensed to practice in West Virginia. Of that number, less than 10 percent (only 116) live and work in the state, which means that greater than 90 percent reside out of state.

Before you can call yourself an architect, you must be registered and have a license in the state for which you intend to practice. Within the rules and regulations for each of the 54 states and jurisdictions, the right to call yourself an architect is reserved only for those who have been registered. In many jurisdictions, which includes West Virginia, an individual cannot use the terms architect, architecture or architectural when describing themselves or the services they provide without being registered.

Every U.S. state and jurisdiction has licensing boards that set requirements for licensure. The requirements establish a process that is neither quick nor easy, but when it comes to safeguarding the public there cannot be short cuts. Not all states have the same requirements, but they all include three core components: education, experience, and examination.

Education is the most important and, is ongoing throughout an architects entire career. Continuing education is a requirement for licensure in every jurisdiction. For initial registration, nearly every state, including West Virginia, requires a degree from a program accredited by the National Architectural Accrediting Board (NAAB). Currently, there are no architectural programs within the state that are NAAB accredited. Fairmont State University's Masters of Architecture program is in the process of pursuing NAAB accreditation so hopefully it will be the first.

Experience is a requirement, no matter where you intend to practice. Earning and documenting professional experience under the supervision of a registered architect is necessary to ensure you're ready to be an architect. The National Council of Architectural Registration Boards (NCARB), is responsible for overseeing the registration of architects. They provide a framework for developing and recording that experience which can begin as soon as you graduate from high school.

The final core component to becoming an architect is completing the Architect Registration Examination® (ARE®). This exam has been developed to ensure that one is ready to practice architecture independently. Over the years, NCARB has developed the ARE with divisions to address all issues, so now all states utilize the same exam. In order to further safeguard the public welfare, the West Virginia Board of Architects must also protect state residents against the unauthorized, unqualified, and improper practice of architecture in the state of West Virginia. Regulating those that misrepresent themselves as architects is key among the vigilant duties of the board. The board is made aware of these issues from the general public or other architects by submitting inquiries or complaints.

Unfortunately, there are some individuals that mispresent themselves. For instance, the board has received complaints regarding advertising architectural services from those not licensed and the use of the letters "AAIA" after someone's name. According to the American Institute of Architects' legal counsel, this is unauthorized and implies credentialing that does not exist. There are two ways an individual can identify themselves as an architect; the letters "RA" (Registered Architect) or AIA (a designation for architects who are members of the American Institute of Architects) after one's name.

It is very easy to determine if someone is an architect. The WVBOA website, at www.wvbrdarch.org/, maintains an updated and accurate list of those who are licensed to practice in the state and call themselves an architect. Simply select the "Find an Architect" menu and search by last name.

The practice of architecture is more than being artistic, developing concepts, sketching on paper, building models, hanging out with groupies, and jetting off to Vegas with the client. It can mean spending hours conducting code reviews, researching materials and writing specifications which can sometimes be incredibly mundane and uninspired. But what it means most of all is staying on top of your profession to do everything necessary to protect the health, safety and welfare of the general public. Every Architect is proud of what they do and takes their responsibility very seriously.

Sent: Wednesday, October 18, 2017 1:01 PM
Subject: Holiday plans

Dear Friends,

Fall has finally found South Dakota. From my office window, I can see the color of the leaves changing. High-school football, volleyball, cross country, and soccer seasons are heading into post-season tournaments. Pumpkins are lending color to porches around each corner, and hunters are kicking up pheasants.

Linda and I have Halloween costumes ready and look forward to seeing all of the trick-or-treaters that come to the Governor's Mansion between 5:30 – 9:30 p.m., Tuesday, October 31. If you're in Pierre, I hope you and your children will stop by too.

October also means the holiday season is right around the corner. This year, I am granting administrative leave to Executive Branch employees on Friday, November 24 (the day after Thanksgiving). State offices in Executive Branch agencies will be closed on that day.

Additionally, State employees already have Monday, December 25 off for the Christmas holiday. I am also granting administrative leave on Tuesday, December 26. State offices in Executive Branch agencies will be closed on that day.

Thank you for everything you do to serve the people of South Dakota.

Happy Fall, Happy Holidays,

Dennis

Subject: [EXT] NCEES announces price reduction for FE, FS exams in 2018

Dear Member Board Members and Administrators:

Beginning January 1, 2018, NCEES is reducing the Fundamentals of Engineering (FE) and Fundamentals of Surveying (FS) exam registration fees by $50 to $175. The reduced fee will apply to registrations completed on or after this date; the new price will not be honored for registrations completed before January 1, 2018.

NCEES member boards voted to lower the price of these exams at the organization's 95th annual meeting in August 2016.

The FE exam is the first of two exams required for professional engineering licensure; it is designed to test students' knowledge of concepts learned while earning an accredited bachelor's degree in an engineering discipline. The FS exam is a similar exam designed for surveying licensure candidates. These exams are currently taken by nearly 47,000 examinees throughout the United States and 15 foreign locations annually. They are computer-based exams administered throughout the year at Pearson VUE test centers.

"NCEES and its member boards are committed to reducing barriers to licensure," NCEES Chief Executive Officer Jerry Carter explained. "Moving to year-round computer-based testing for these exams, which gives candidates greater scheduling flexibility, was an important part of those measures. The organization is taking the additional step of lowering the price of the fundamentals exams to ensure that cost is not a prohibitive factor in starting on the path to licensure."

For more information on the FE and FS exams, visit ncees.org/cbt.

Jerry T. Carter
Chief Executive Officer

During the recent meeting of the NCEES Board of Directors, NCEES Chief Executive Officer Jerry Carter informed the Board of his intentions to retire at the end of 2018. Jerry has been a member of the NCEES staff since 2001, initially serving as the Director of Corporate affairs and, since 2007, as Chief Executive Officer (CEO).

In my capacity as NCEES President, I will be appointing a search committee to find Jerry's successor. I will keep everyone apprised of our progress in identifying and bringing on board the next Chief Executive Officer.

As the Chief of Staff and Corporate Secretary, the CEO serves a vital role in overseeing the day-to-day operations of the Council as well as supporting the NCEES Board in accomplishing the mission and vision of the organization. Accordingly, the Board would welcome any comments or input as to the skillsets or character traits you feel should be considered in the pursuit of the next CEO. Please provide any comments that you would like to be considered no later than December 1, 2017 to my attention at ptamipls@gmail.com.

Thank you for your assistance and your continued support of the licensure process.
